

StayConnecteD4Dev: Community Learning Centre

Tool for Knowledge sharing

What is it about?

Strengthen access to knowledge and information in order to promote positive social changes and involvement in achieving SDGs.

Why an intervention?

There is a lack of relevant information and knowledge to empower both individuals and communities to let them know, understand, secure and enforce their roles, responsibilities and engagements in the success of the SDGs as well as limited opportunities of communities to let the wider public and donors know about their day-to-day situation and their real needs. Modern ICT tools (online apps, cloud platforms, mobile apps etc.) are changing the way people are communicating, learning and teaching, and have a great potential to create opportunities for development. Connecting the most vulnerable communities and people (such as girls and women, youths, unemployed, people with disabilities) to these potential ICT tools is a crucial step for sustainable development.

What does it change?

- Access to education will be improved by using modern ICT technologies;
- Knowledge exchange will increase;
- Digital skills of both, men and women, will be enhanced;
- The quality of education will be improved by focusing on high-quality e- learning materials and shared knowledge;
- The developmental actors networking will be increased.

How will it work?

- People with different skills, ideas and resources to address particular developmental issues will be brought together;
- Exchange of available knowledge, lessons learned and connection via different institutions, organizations and individuals will be facilitated;
- Synchronous and asynchronous interaction among a diverse range of development actors seeking increased collaboration, learning and adaptation will be supported;
- Dissemination of relevant knowledge and research will be facilitated;
- Connections and networking will be supported;
- On-the-ground results will be shared;
- The knowledge gaps will be filled by lessons dissemination on various topics promoting sustainable development;
- SDGs and citizens roles in their fulfillment will be promoted.
